Powerhire were issued with the map of the site inclusive of all the required power locations and liaised with the organisers to advise and specify the size of all necessary power rental equipment taking into particular consideration visitor Health, Safety & Welfare as well as space restrictions.

Having provided countless power packages for Festivals of this nature, Powerhire were well equipped in providing the necessary power within the stringent guidelines set down by the council.

In collaboration with the organisers Powerhire's Engineers safely delivered and positioned their twenty+ generator sets and fuel tanks four days prior to the commencement of the event. They specified their super silent event spec ready generator sets ranging from 20kVA up to 500kVA synchronised units totalling a complete power package of 3.5 MVA, together with supplying bulk fuel storage units ranging from 3000 up to 8000 Ltr fully bunded containerised tanks.

By Friday Powerhire had completed the power installation for the event and for the BBC compound ready for the live broadcast. Their engineers tested the system set up to electrical requirement BS7909 as stated in the Event licence. The installation was compliant and throughout the duration of the event there was no interruption in power which was obviously paramount to OnBlackheath's success.

OnBlackheath commenced the weekend of 13th September and entertained over 25,000 event goers throughout the Event. It boasted an escape from the bustle of the city offering a mass of delights to feast upon which included a world class line-up of top chefs creating culinary delicacies, vibrant music from famous artists and fun for kids of all ages!!

The Neff sponsored Tent in The Food Village featured Gize Erskine's Chefs Club hosting live food demos and an incredible Farmers Market together with a host of Street Food Stalls and a collection of amazing bars.

The remaining space OnBlackheath was taken over by The Kids Fun Factory where all visitors were able to discover a world of interactive fun, games, workshops, entertainment and village fete games as well as face painting, hoola hoop classes, storytelling, swing dance classes, DJ and Beatboxing workshops, graffiti and t-shirt painting workshops, and then somesomething for everyone OnBlackheath!

Throughout the festivities a handful of Powerhire's engineers stayed onsite as a precautionary measure to eliminate any break in power during the weekend as well as helping with re-fuelling 15,000 ltrs of fuel required each day as part of their fuel management.

Social Media showed the Event to be a huge success from the many attendees, showing a mass of interest for the event to continue on into the future.

Festival Organisers posted on their website: "AN ENORMOUS THANK YOU to everyone who made OnBlackheath such a great success! Over 25,000 of you attended our first ever festival and we can't thank you enough."
